

GIPSA ISSUES 2001 EXPORT GRAIN QUALITY REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 4, 2001 -- The USDA Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration (GIPSA) today released its latest report on the quality of U.S. grain exports.

Published annually, GIPSA's "2001 U.S. Grain Exports: Quality Report" summarizes the quality of export wheat, corn, soybeans, sorghum, barley, sunflower seeds, canola, and flaxseed. It is based on data collected during the official inspection of export grain shipments in calendar year 2001.

The report is available electronically on GIPSA's web site. Hard copies are available in limited quantities.
